

Mrs. Pat Wagner is the Beginnergarten teacher. She is a reading and composition tutor at Reading Language Arts Center in Shelby Township after school and on Saturday. She has a BS in ED from Oakland University and a Michigan Teaching Certificate with a ZA, Early Childhood endorsement. She taught Pre K and Kindergarten at a daycare center in Rochester for three years before starting a family. While she raised her three children, she provided in-home care to neighbors and volunteered in their school and Sunday school. She has taught Pre K and Preschool at two schools in Rochester Hills, as well as second grade at Kingsbury Country Day School where she was also a volleyball coach. Two years ago, she was a paraprofessional in a K-5 Cognitively Impaired program for the Rochester Schools.

Pat is the mother of three grown children and grandmother of three young children, with one on the way. She is involved in her church, singing in the choir, playing bells, and serving in other ministries. She and her husband enjoy time with the family and friends on their boats and ski hills. Pat loves people, animals, nature, gardening, and music. She feels God led her to this school, and feels blessed to serve here.
